Greetings in this Summer of 1978 and again we're busy — and we had a busy Spring too!

The 10th Annual Numismatic Educational Symposium was a big event at the Holiday Inn in Fullerton and those attending were so enthusiastic that symposiums will be continued without change. Thank you William Wisslead, and the members of your committee, for a job well done. A special thanks to the four participants — Mary T. Brooks, Ed Fulwider, William C. Henderson and Abe Kosoff — their talks were well received.

Also a big success was 62nd Convention held this Spring at the Jack Tar Hotel and again a special thank you to O. L. Wallis and his enthusiastic convention committee. A full report of the convention is in another part of this issue of Calcoin News.

At the board meeting reports and plans for future conventions were discussed. The 63rd will be at the Airport Marina Hotel in Los Angeles October 27-29 with Chairman Phil Iversen. It is sponsored by Culver City Coin Club and Bay Cities Coin Club.

The 64th will be April 19-22, 1979 at the Jack Tar. The 65th will be 26-28 of October 1979 at the Sheraton-Anaheim with Elizabeth Wisslead chairman, sponsored by Orange County Coin Club.

The 66th will be 2-4 May, 1980 at the Jack Tar and the 67th will be in the fall of 1980 at the Holiday Inn, San Diego, sponsored by San Diego Interclub Numismatic Council.

The 68th convention will be 1-3 May, 1981 at the Jack Tar and the 69th will be in the fall of 1981 with the San Bernardino County Coin Club sponsoring at a location to be picked later.

A group of officers and former officers visited the Old Mint and were pleased to see that the Mint staff had completely redecorated the CSNA's famous display of "a token from every town" in California. Work is underway on the CSNA coin and paper money display too. Herb Bergen was pleased to hear a report that his complete "S" Mint coin exhibit is one of the most popular with the Old Mint visitors. A large chart of the S mint's coin production by denomination and year has been added and augments the display.

The Mint staff took the CSNA visitors on a tour of the automation program giving them an inside look into the system for handling the heavy mail job of the famous Proof sets. It is already underway to the millions of customers.

The Old Mint still remains one of the most popular for the visiting numismatists. It was also a thrill to see the hundreds of school children that had been bussed in for a mint visit from their schools in the East Bay area.

The bourse was a bee hive of activity and was especially crowded with customers on Saturday afternoon.

The exhibits were unusually good and special congratulations to Ted Lopez, a junior, for his best of show exhibit. His family has been active in a half dozen numismatic organizations for the past several years. His father, Fred Lopez, was recently named legal officer for CSNA.

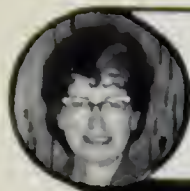

Much emphasis is being placed on the coming fall coin show and the 63rd convention being held 27-29 October at the Airport Marina Hotel at Manchester and Lincoln Avenues very close to the Los Angeles International Airport. Chairman Phil Iversen and his committee are making big plans.

So circle those October dates on your calendar and since we'll have a good program you might plan to come early and stay late. Remember the rate of the rooms, either single or double, is only $20.

One of the unusual things that the committee is working on is an exhibit of Yap stone money. Prompted by several new examples of this famous primitive money being acquired by CSNA members, the committee is contacting all known owners to bring their big stone discs coins to this show as a feature exhibit.

Director Catharine Edgerton, who is Custodian of Educational Material, will take on a new job when she takes charge of the novice education and information campaign. It has long been thought that there is a need to help the new collectors — the adults as well as the juniors.

At the recent Society of International Numismatists convention in Inglewood — the "big four" held their first meeting. It was an informal affair called by Nate Bromberg, President of C.O.I.N. Attending with him were George L. Russell, President of S.I.N.; Richard F. Lebold, President of the Numismatic Association of Southern California, and me — John E. Lenker, President of the California State Numismatic Association, along with a group of vice presidents, past presidents and friends. After discussing mutual problems the group decided to meet again Saturday, June 10 at the C.O.I.N. event in the L.A. Hilton. They chose California Numismatic Coordinating Council for their name.

Editorially

The goal of the California State Numismatic Association is one we can all be proud of "... to promote, extend and protect numismatic activity ... to foster and encourage the study ... in all its forms and branches."

What better way to accomplish this than through a library where books are made available to members at no cost other than reimbursement for mailing. Topics are numerous, Mints and Minting; Counterfeiting; Colonial Coins; Commemoratives; Medals; Tokens; Gold and Silver; Ancient; Foreign; Primitive Money, Banks ... the list is endless. The collective educational wealth of the Association lies in its members and its library.

All that mankind has done, thought, gained or been: it is lying as in magic preservation in the pages of books.

— Thomas Carlyle

Contributors through the years, individuals and/or publishers, have broadened the scope of available reading to make the CSNA's research and reference library one of the most extensive in the nation.

A recent large donation by Ralph "Curley" Mitchell included some rare copies and a chance to add some out-of-print selections to the shelves. A big THANK YOU, CURLEY for sharing your collection with all CSNA members. These books will be listed at some future date in the Librarian's Report when they have all been catalogued.

Anyone wishing to check out a book please contact Dorothy Beaulieu, 3143 Neal Avenue, San Jose, Ca. 95117.

The old adage of "First the Book, then the Coin" holds true even more so today than in yesteryear. With the prices asked in the current marketplace and the vigorous attack of counterfeiters, it is in your personal interest to know your coin, its make-up and its history.

Books are silent friends who give us countless ways to help, not only ourselves, but in guiding the novice collector. The rewards of the hobby are many, and books should be the first half of your collection.

Our Goal

"The objects and purposes of this Association are to promote, extend and protect numismatic activity throughout California, and to foster and encourage the study of numismatics in all its forms and branches."

Medals of Hawaiian Rulers and Nobility

Clay Read — CSNA 1457

The glorious, but not forgotten, Rulers and Royalty of the Hawaiian Kingdom are depicted on these medals.

Captain James Cook (who was not a ruler or of Hawaiian royalty) was given the honor of being on the first set of medals because he discovered the Islands on January 18, 1778. He named them "The Sandwich Islands" in honor of Lord Sandwich.

The Cook medals were struck in 1964 of silver and bronze. The balance of the series were struck in aluminum, silver, and bronze. The low mintage aluminum medals were given to dealers who participated in the show making them relatively scarce. Certain issues of the silver medals are also considered scarce.

The medals were struck each year including 1976 which is not shown. They commemorate the annual convention of the Hawaiian Numismatic Association. No medal was struck for the year 1977. All are 39mm. The bronze and silver sets were struck in quantities of 500 each and the aluminum varied with the number of dealers attending. Quantities range from 31 to 100 over the years.

The fabulous history of the Hawaiian Rulers and Nobility is written in the following manner.

Capt. Cook — issued year — 1964

CAPTAIN JAMES COOK

Captain James Cook was born October 27, 1728 in the small Yorkshire village of Marton-In-Cleveland. In 1746 he was introduced to shipowners John and Henry Walker who gave him his first berth on a coastal collier named the "Freelove". He continued in this trade until 1775 when he joined the Royal Navy as an able seaman. His ability was soon proven and promotion to Master's Mate followed. During the next three years he served in the blockade of the French coast. In 1758 on board the "Pembroke" he sailed for North America where the French city of Quebec was under siege. Charting the St. Lawrence River was of vital importance to the final assault.

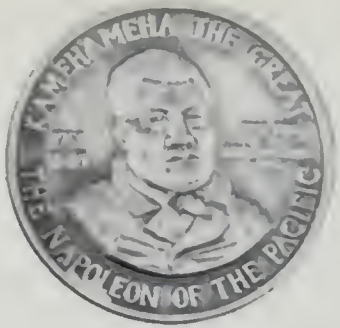

On August 26, 1768 Captain Cook sailed on the "Endeavour" for Tahiti in the Society Group. He made many voyages between England and the Pacific and charted his discoveries on the way.

Suddenly, and without warning, the situation of the Hawaiian people changed for on January 18, 1778 Captain James Cook of the British Navy discovered the Hawaiian Islands quite by accident on his way from Tahiti to North America. He first sighted "Oahu", then Waimea on the Island of Kauai from his sailing ships the "Resolution" and "Discovery" and named his new sightings the "Sandwich Islands" in honor of Lord Sandwich, the head of the British Admiralty.

The King of Hawaii at that time was King Kalaniopi. The Hawaiian people had never before seen sailing ships this size and believed them to be "floating islands". They thought Captain Cook to be the Polynesian God "LONO".

Captain Cook's ships were anchored in Kealokekua Bay, "Pathway of the Gods", on the Kona Coast of the Island of Hawaii. While there, a native was accused of stealing, Captain Cook took an armed force ashore, and during the fighting Captain Cook lost his life on February 14th, 1779. His burial spot is today a British possession.

The earliest form of token currency to be used in the Sandwich Islands was that issued at the Koloa Plantation, Kauai in 1836.

King Kamehameha I—issued year—1965

KING KAMEHAMEHA I

Reign 1758-1819

King Kamehameha I "The Great" is pronounced KA-MAY-AH-MAY-AH. The birth-date of King Kamehameha I is uncertain, his father was Keoua Kalamikupu and his mothers name was Kekuiapoiwa.

As foreigners began to arrive, King Kamehameha I unified the Hawaiian Kingdom by conquest with the help of two British seamen, John Young and Issac Davis, their reward was being made "Chief" and given estates and supplies.

The American ship "Fair American" was the first ship seized and added to the war fleet of Kamehameha I. A large naval battle was fought near Waipio, Hawaii Island and with the help of the two British seamen and cannons, known as "the red mouthed guns" won the battle against the Maui chiefs which led to the unification of the islands.

King Kamehameha I captured the island of Maui in February 1795. Soon after his fleet and army captured Molokai, then his forces landed at Waikiki, Oahu and defeated Kalanikupule's army at Pali Point in the Nuuanu Valley.

King Kamehameha I was a powerful man standing 6'6" in height, was agile, fearless, and skilled in battle. He had a strong mind and was an excellent judge of men and earned loyalty among his followers. He easily gained friendship and respect from foreigners. He divided the lands among his chiefs for their services.

The principal contribution of King Kamehameha I to the islands was in unifying them and ending forever the inter-island fighting.

King Kamehameha I is generally regarded as the first ruler to accept gold and silver as a medium of exchange.

The first horses were presented to King Kamehameha I on May 24, 1803 by Captain R. J. Cleveland of California. It was at this time the King decided to place the Island of Hawaii under the protection of Great Britain. The British flag was hoisted on Feb. 24, 1794 and Lt. Puget took possession of the island in the name of the British King. Great Britain did not ratify the action.

King Kamehameha I died May 8, 1819 at Kailua, Hawaii. The remains of this great King are in a secret cave. Only the "stars of the heavens" know the resting place.

King Kamehameha II—issued year—1969

KING KAMEHAMEHA II (Liholiho)

Reign 1819-1824

King Kamehameha II was the son of Kamehameha I, The Great. King Kamehameha II subdued the revolting Kauaians on the Island of Kauai, holding the King of Kauai as a royal prisoner in Honolulu. He swept away most of the temples and destroyed many of the old Gods carved of wood and stone.

King Kamehameha II, first constructive act was to permit “co-educational eating” which before was a high crime and punishable by death. He also allowed women to eat bananas for the first time.

King Kamehameha II abolished the “Kapu system”. The King strongly pushed the use of alcohol and tobacco smoking and his reign was one of really “living it up”.

In foreign relations, King Kamehameha II carried on the policy of his father, regarding his kingdom as being under the protection of Great Britain.

On November 27, 1823, King Kamehameha II and his wife, Kamamaler, sailed aboard the English whaler “L'Aigle” for a visit to England to meet with King George IV and his Queen. King Kamehameha II and his wife, Queen Kamamaler took sick with the measles and died.

King Kamehameha III—issued year—1967

KING KAMEHAMEHA III (KAUIKEOULI)
Reign 1824-1854

King Kamehameha III, was the son of Kaahumanu, wife of King Kamehameha I, The Great.

The King granted the first religious freedom to the missionaries who arrived from Boston in 1823. The first Christian service was conducted in 1823 by two missionaries. Mormon missionaries first arrived in 1846 while the islands were under his reign.

King Kamehameha III accomplished more for the Sandwich Islands than all the other rulers put together. He made the first laws, published Declaration of Rights, Royal school opened, the first constitution proclaimed, the first ambassador was sent to Europe. He started Punahou school, first recognition of Hawaii’s independence by the United States, Great Britain, and France, first division of lands, responsible for the “Great Mahele” in 1848 giving common people title to their property, abolishing old feudal controls and setting up a limited monarchy with a legislative and judiciary system.

On July 29, 1835, King Kamehameha III impressed his personal signet in red sealing wax on the “Lease of the Koloa Plantation”, thereby providing evidence of the authenticity of the document and attention of the royal signature. This particular example of the royal seal is not known to be in existence today.

King Kamehameha III decreed the first Thanksgiving Day in Hawaii, featuring singing, speeches, a plea for teetotalism officially December 31, 1849.

The King chose “Lahaina” on Maui for his residence.

King Kamehameha IV—issued year—1972

KING KAMEHAMEHA IV

Reign 1854-1863

King Kamehameha IV was the only son of Alexander Liholiho (King Kamehameha II) and was married to Queen Emma. Their son, Albert Kamehameha died at the tender age of 4 on August 27, 1862 and for a long time, Hawaii mourned the passing of their little Prince.

King Kamehameha IV was responsible for "The Queen's Hospital". The birth rate was low and the death rate high, causing the King and Queen to raise money in 1859 to help stop this alarming situation. Before the end of 1860, the hospital was completed and named "The Queen's Hospital" after Queen Emma.

It is frequently stated that King Kamehameha IV was pro-British and anti-American. He took seriously the responsibility of his high position and ardently desired to maintain the independence of Hawaii and to promote the welfare of his country.

King Kamehameha V—issued year—1968

KING KAMEHAMEHA V

Reign 1863-1872

King Kamehameha V, the last of the "Great Chiefs of the Olden Type" believed the right to lead the people firmly. He believed his people to be hardworking and thrifty, with no waste, or idle temptations. He believed the privilege of voting should be the right of subjects who had some education and owned property. His greatest fear was that universal suffrage would end in establishing a republic in Hawaii, leading to inevitable annexation by the United States.

In an effort to strengthen the monarchy, Kamehameha V enacted a new constitution in 1864, which limited voters and office holders to men of property.

King Kamehameha V died December 11, 1872 at the Iolani Palace on his 43rd birthday. It has been said that Kamehameha V failed to appoint a successor because of a superstition fear that it would hasten his death.

King Lunalilo — issued year — 1970

KING WILLIAM CHARLES LUNALILO

Reign 1872-1873

The accession to the throne of King Lunalilo stands out as unique for he gave the people the opportunity to speak.

January 8, 1873 he became King by unanimous vote. Well educated, far above average, he went much farther than most Chiefs were willing to do so.

King Lunalilo was a cousin to Kamehameha V.

In his will he founded the Lunalilo Home on Oahu to provide for aged Hawaiians.

The state seal was also used during his reign.

King Lunalilo, in poor health at the start of his reign, was King just over a year, the shortest reign in Hawaiian history.

King Kalakaua — issued year — 1871

KING DAVID KALAKAUA

Reign 1874-1891

King Kalakaua, King of the Sandwich Islands, was elected King February 12, 1874. He was born November 16, 1836 and died in San Francisco on January 20, 1891. King Kalakaua was called by many "The Merry Monarch".

King Kalakaua was the first to rule from the historic "Iolani Palace" and laid the corner stone on December 31, 1879. He took residence officially in late 1882. He was a 33rd degree Mason in Scottish Rite.

The Merry Monarch, King Kalakaua had visions of grandeur and a yen to be King in his own right, but times had changed and when he found that he could only be a constitutional monarch, he set out to have a good time. The King came to the United States to visit Ulysses S. Grant and while there he brought about the reciprocity treaty. He had the United States form Pearl Harbor, sugar was free of duty, he took a tour around the world and built himself a palace, which is now the Capitol Building. The King bought a regal jewel-studded crown and struck numerous ribbons and orders for his friends.

The official seal of Kalakaua (red impression) was undoubtedly the King's personal signet bearing the monogram K.R. surmounted by the Roman Numeral III above which appeared a crown.

The famous silver dollar, 50 cent, quarter and dime coins appeared during the reign of King Kalakaua.

The King was an excellent musician, a composer of songs and a creator of hulas. He wrote several manuscripts and was considered to be a fine gentleman.

In 1884 King Kalakaua acquired the palace of Hulihee for a residence.

He later was stripped of his dignity as King, intimidated to the point of becoming a mere puppet he died in San Francisco on January 20, 1891. His last words, which were recorded on a phonograph record were, "Tell my people I tried."

Queen Liliuokalani — issued year — 1966

QUEEN LILIUOKALANI (LYDIA)

Reign 1891-1893

In 1882 Queen Liliuokalani and John Owens were married during the rule of King Kalakaua. She was well educated and had the air of one accustomed to rule.

When Queen Liliuokalani became ruler she tried immediately to revert to the good old feudal days. Controversies flared up during her reign and after a short time she surrendered her authority.

The queen organized "Queen Liliuokalani Children's Center" on the islands.

She was a gracious sovereign who in retirement forgave her deposed and lived happily to a ripe old age, always the beloved Queen.

The Queen's many talents included a mastery of music and in the end she will probably be longer and better remembered by the world for her internationally famous song "ALOHA AE" (Farewell to Thee) which was written as much as a love song, as it was a farewell.

The monarchy was abolished in 1893. Her move to draw up a new constitution, removing checks on monarchical power was met with political upheaval. Though no longer Queen Liliuokalani, she reigned in the hearts of her people until her death on November 11, 1917.

The Banknotes of Reza Shah Pahlavi

Robert L. Clarke, CSNA 1751

Several years ago I made an effort to write a catalog of Iranian banknotes. The section on the notes of Reza Shah Pahlavi was completed but the project languished because of my inability to run down sufficient data on the earlier banknotes issued by the Imperial Bank of Persia. Last September while Mary and Charles Colver were visiting us in Barcelona a copy of my work on the Reza Shah period surfaced and Charles, ever mindful of the interests of CSNA, suggested that the data be used in Cal Coin News.

The following is a modification of the original work. The catalog, as written, showed prices for notes in four grades of condition. The recent oil prosperity in Iran has caused a tremendous increase in interest in numismatics among the citizens of that country, hence any pricing data in the original work is quite obsolete. For the purposes of this article no pricing is attempted. In Iran today collectors are very conscious of banknote condition. Higher grades bring prices which are ridiculous compared with that asked for contemporary U.S. material. I have photographed notes for which the asking price ran to thousands of dollars.

A brief explanation of the numbering system used herein is in order. In the early 1970's very little information was available to collectors and "discoveries" of new types and dates were commonplace. I prepared a checklist upon which the denominations were shown. Vertically in ascending order and given letter designations. Next I listed the series horizontally in the supposed order of issue and gave each series a numerical designation. Thus A-1 indicates a five rial note of the 1311 issue and H-17 designates a 1000 rial note issued in 1321. Not all series are complete. Actually some consist of only single notes known today. The principal factor in designating a series was the date shown on the note as part of the design or stamped thereon, or as a combination of both. Thus any change in a note which indicated that it preceded or followed a similar note was enough to give it series rank. The weakness of this system is that the Iranian authorities today are not consistent in issuing notes in chronological sequence and there is no reason to assume that they were any more consistent in Reza's day. It is quite possible that additional notes may be discovered. Several have been added since my original work. The last entry is a 10,000 rial note, probably never placed in circulation, which has been given the designation J-14. I believe that any notes discovered in the future will fit into the letter-number sequence.

The 500 Rials of this series is unreported and probably never was printed. Note that the letter F has not been used with the foregoing banknotes. This letter has been reserved for notes of Mohammad Reza Shah of 200 Rial denomination.

The writer has seen all the notes listed herein except the two for which no day and month of issue are given. The latter surely are notes with other dates of issue but the overprinting in Persian script makes it difficult for western collectors to read these dates. Occasionally one encounters two lines rather than one in the dating overprint. On such notes the overprint reads "Placed in use" followed by the date which is written from right to left giving day, month and year.

The banknotes of the Without Hat Design will follow in a second installment.

Numismatic Ambassador Awards

California collector Paul Hamm, whose interest in coin collecting stretches back nearly 60 years, became the second recipient of 1978 of the Numismatic Ambassador Award. Clifford Mishler, NEWS Publisher, made the surprise presentation at an appreciation dinner hosted by the friends of Paul Hamm at Mission Center in San Diego where nearly 80 of his friends from across the nation gathered to wish him well. (Note: This article was received too late for inclusion in the Spring Issue).

A surprised and happy James Betton was honored at the recent SIN Convention in Los Angeles when he received the Numismatic Ambassador Award established by Numismatic News. Mr. Russell Rulau read many of Jim's accomplishments leading up to revealing the winner's name. Many friends were on hand at the banquet to see the presentation, and join in congratulating Jim. It is well deserved!

10th Annual Educational Symposium

The tenth annual California State Numismatic Association Educational Symposium was held on Saturday, March 18, 1978, at the Holiday Inn of Fullerton, Fullerton, California, along with outstanding invitational exhibits. 250 were in attendance. The consensus of opinion from the committee and the visitors was that this event was the best of its kind to date.

An exciting educational program was arranged by William O. Wisslead, Director of Education. The speakers included Mary T. Brooks, Director of the United States

Mary T. Brooks

Mint from 1969 to 1977, currently International Consultant on Numismatic and Philatelic Affairs with the Paramount International Coin Corp., whose subject was "A Change in Your Change"; Ed Fulwider of San Francisco, Calif., Senior Die Setter of the United States Assay Office, who spoke on "The Production of Proof Coins at the San Francisco Assay Office"; William C. Henderson of Colorado Springs, Colorado, Treasurer of the American Numismatic Association, who lectured on the topic "Checks Can Tell an Interesting Story", and indeed they did; Abe Kosoff of Palm Springs, Calif., famed professional numismatist, who told about his "Fifty Years in Numismatics".

William O. Wisslead of Santa Ana, Calif. was the chairman and the committee consisted of: Wisslead, Charles G. Colver, C.S.N.A. Secretary, Ruth L. Phillips, Treasurer, Elizabeth L. Wisslead, Publicity and Thomas F. Fitzgerald, Exhibits. The Orange County Coin Club was the host, under the guidance of John J. Hower, President.

The invitational "First Place" and "Best of Show" exhibits included "United States Fractional Currency" by Thomas F. Fitzgerald; "Medals of the First Woman Director of the U.S. Mint" by Albert K. Hall; "Mexico's Silver Commemoratives" by Ted Lopez; "Musical Banknotes" by Ralph Marx; "Girl Scouts of America" by Connie Sharp; "United States Federal Reserve Notes" by Jim Sharp; "Russian Wire Money" by Larry F. Tapper; "The Fourteen Mints of Mexico" by Peter Brander. Each exhibitor was presented a C.S.N.A. Certificate of Appreciation.

The question and answer period was spirited and enjoyed by all. In fact, President John E. Lenker had to call a halt to this part of the program at six o'clock since the banquet was scheduled for six-thirty p.m.

President Lenker presented each of the speakers a copy of "Money Talks" C.S.N.A.'s Numismatic Anthology duly inscribed, and a C.S.N.A. Medal.

SAN DIEGO numismatists arrived by the busload.

The busload of numismatists — 45 strong — from San Diego arrived on time with Betty Webb in charge. This is an annual trip and bus reservations must be made early as 'space available' sells out quickly.

President John Lenker presents CSNA resolution to Mory Brooks for her work in saving the Old San Francisco Mint. Poul Whitnah adds an approving smile.

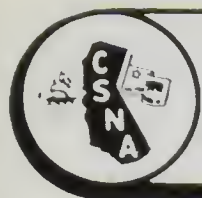

94 attended the evening banquet held at the Holiday Inn. President John E. Lenker presented a Resolution to Mary T. Brooks "For her outstanding contribution to our Hobby in the State of California".

When dessert time came William O. and Elizabeth L. Wisslead were 'surprised' with a large cake with the greeting "Happy Anniversary to Bill and Elizabeth" for their Wedding Anniversary on March 18, 1978. The surprise had been arranged by Charles and Mary Colver and the cake baked by Ethel M. Lenhart, C.S.N.A. Director.

Who's Who in Cal-State Numismatics

CLAY READ
CSNA #1457

Clay Read was born June 21, 1913 on a farm near the small country town of Cullom, Illinois, southwest of Chicago. His family moved to the Los Angeles area when Clay was a small boy and he received his education in California schools.

He tried his hand at several different types of jobs over the years, from being a jockey to selling cars for his father. He was injured when he was thrown off a horse, and this put a halt to what might have been an exciting career. He then went to work for the Lockheed Aircraft Company of Burbank where he stayed for 28 years. He retired in December, 1972.

Clay's interest in numismatics began in 1946. His coin collecting interests span several facets of the hobby, U.S. coins, foreign coins, paper money, tokens, and medals. He is the type of collector the hobby can be proud of. He enjoys building up a fine collection of material, puts together an exhibit, gives talks at clubs, writes an article for publication . . . in general, he collects, researches and shares his knowledge with others.

After retirement, Clay became an international traveler as the hobby bestowed on him the title of Numismatic Goodwill Ambassador. He has traveled over 2,000,000 air miles to coin conventions: South Africa in 1970 and 1974; Tasmania in 1972; Fiji, Bermuda and London in 1973; Canada, Hawaii, Mexico City several times, plus conventions throughout the United States.

Clay is one of the top exhibitors in the world and has won over 525 trophies, 5 of them "Best of Show" awards from around the world. He has built over 200 different exhibits over the years.

Clay has been a courier for the ANA, CSNA, NASC, CES and others in delivering plaques and awards for presentation to other coin clubs around the globe. He is a true NUMISMATIC GOODWILL AMBASSADOR.

He has always been very active in local and state coin shows and always ready to help other exhibitors if they have any problems. He also has served as a judge from time to time.

Clay has been an active club member in over 20 different coin clubs, local, state, national, and international. He has served as an officer in many of these clubs.

A major part of Clay's life has been his hobby of coin collecting. Over the years illness has slowed his activities somewhat, but the interest and the eagerness of it all still remains.

Clay is a grandfather and is trying to add some new collectors. His grandchildren has a fine teacher. We all appreciate the dedication that Clay has always given, and is continuing to give to our mutual hobby.

Convention Highlights

THE 62ND SEMI-ANNUAL CONVENTION

IT WAS A GOOD SHOW! Everyone agreed that a good site, good weather, good planning, good publicity and a good bourse combined to make the California State Numismatic Association's 62nd Semi-Annual Convention and Coin Show a memorable event. It was a fitting climax to the nationwide observance of COIN WEEK. The ANA Coin Week theme, "Happiness is Coin Collecting", was reflected in the broad smiles on the faces of both dealers and collectors alike.

A beautiful golden bronze convention medal, featuring a replica of the California octagonal $1 gold piece of 1878 was presented to those registering for the show, estimated to be around the 1,500 mark. The Pacific Coast Numismatic Society was the official host club with PCNS Vice President O. L. Wallis serving as General Chairman of the event.

The first official convention function was the traditional "Friday Luncheon" attended by 42 "early birds" at the convention. Irene and Clifford Liss were the hosts for the event and Charles V. Kappen of San Jose, former CSNA President and Editor of Calcoin News, was the guest speaker. Mr. Kappen chose to speak on Early CSNA Publications, a topic laced with amusing anecdotes connected with the early formation days of CSNA.

The CSNA Educational Forum was held on Friday night with Frank Strazzarino of San Francisco serving as Moderator. S. G. Yasinsky, a former inspector with the San Francisco Police department, spoke on a very timely subject for all coin collectors, "Protect What You Collect", in which he listed certain precautions coin collectors should take to protect their coins and to help the police recover their coins in the event that they are stolen. The second slated speaker, Dr. Charles Aby of San Rafael, was stricken with the flu bug a few days before the forum and was unable to present his talk on "Quest for Mexican Coins", but in the true tradition of "the show must go on", PCNS President Larry Reppetau gave an impromptu talk on counterfeiting and his collection of "funny money", pointing out that sometimes the fake is more interesting than the real thing. Mr. Strazzarino presented both speakers with beautiful silver trays engraved to commemorate the occasion and in appreciation for their contribution to the forum.

The CSNA General Business Meeting was held on Saturday morning, and to capulate the proceedings, CSNA President John Lenker declared the CSNA was in pretty good shape, CSNA Secretary Charles Colver lectured members to go out and recruit new members for the association, and Editor Virginia Hall urged members to submit articles for CALCOIN NEWS.

Two numismatic groups met in open session on Saturday afternoon. The California Exonumist Society meeting was moderated by Betty Stevens with Charles V. Kappen, noted authority on tokens, spoke on Token Categories and listed many publications available to collectors on the subject. The meeting was well attended for the Western States Token Society met immediately following the CES meeting and many members of both organizations sat in on each other's meetings. Mrs. Stevens presented speaker Kappen with an award for presenting the day's program and Betty was presented an award by CES President Richard Lebold for her duties as Moderator.

Moderator Betty Stevens and Speaker Charles Kappen at the CES meetings.

About 100 members and guests attended the CSNA Awards Banquet which was preceded by a no-host cocktail hour. John Sears of San Francisco acted as both Banquet Chairman and Master of Ceremonies at the dinner. And a grand event it was because history was made at the 62nd when the BEST OF SHOW award went to a Junior exhibitor, 13 year old Ted Lopez of San Bernardino, for an outstanding exhibit of Mexican Commemoratives. It was the first time in the 31 year history of CSNA that a Junior exhibitor won the top honor exhibiting, but it was an outstanding exhibit and deserved to win. CSNA President John Lenker awarded the much coveted first place Silver Literary Medal to Albert Hall of Colton for his excellent article on Nellie Tayloe Ross which appeared in the Fall 1977 edition of CALCOIN NEWS. The second place Bronze Literary Medal went to Don T. Thrall of Berkeley for his article entitled "The Coinage of Canada" which appeared in the Summer 1977 edition of CALCOIN NEWS. Wm. de Vroom of Australia was mentioned as runner-up in the Literary Awards and it was pointed out that all the winners were papers contest winners of the Pacific Coast Numismatic Society. It is too bad that other clubs do not promote this activity within their clubs.

It was a great night all around for Albert Hall; in addition to the Silver Literary Award he also took top honors in the Orders and Decorations exhibit category, which in turn won him the Best in Exonumia trophy, and also took third place in the foreign exhibit category! It all goes to prove, hard work pays off, and he and Virginia are both hard workers for the association.

President Lenker presented General Chairman O. L. Wallis (just call me Wally) with a beautiful set of convention medals for his outstanding work on organizing a great show and "Wally" thanked all his committee personnel for the hard work they put into making sure the convention ran smoothly. He awarded an engraved silver tray to John Sears for his work as Deputy Convention Chairman, Banquet Chairman and Master of Ceremonies. Wally was also presented an award for his special non-competitive exhibit on Admiral Dewey material.

Crew of the 62nd, l. to r. Ed Fulwider, O. L. Wallis, Rose and Harry Huntington, Frank Strazzarina, John Sears and Rudy Gjuravich. Jay Patterson is standing in the back. Appreciation goes to all the hard-working assistants.

A delightful Sunday Champagne Brunch was held on Sunday morning in the Jack Tar Hotel's dining room and served as a fitting end for a great convention. John Lenker and Wally served as unofficial hosts at the breakfast.

The next CSNA Convention will be held in Los Angeles at the Airport Marina Hotel on October 27-29, 1978, with Phil Iversen serving as General Chairman. Information about the show can be obtained from Mr. Iversen, P.O. Box 1509, Redondo Beach, Ca. 90278.

Barbara Hyde Conducts Workshop

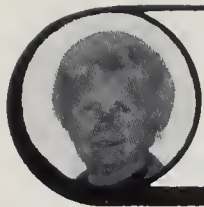

Sculptress Barbara Hyde recently presented a bas-relief artwork show at her alma mater, the University of Nebraska.

Barbara received the first Nebraska Alumni Association President's Award of Merit in 1977, and was asked to return to the campus to conduct a workshop in her chosen field of architecture. After a quarter of a century working with oils and sculpture in the round, Barbara said it was an easy transition into numismatic art.

Mrs. Hyde has received a number of important medallic commissions in the relatively short time she has been practicing in this artistic area. These include the ANA convention medal for Los Angeles, the George Washington silver medals for Liberty Lobby, the Los Angeles PGA Golden Anniversary Award Medals, and an Old Time Assay Commissioners' annual meeting medal.

MONEY

Workers earn it, spendthrifts burn it;
Bankers lend it, women spend it;
Forgers fake it, taxes take it;
Dying leaves it, heirs receive it;
Thrifty save it, misers crave it;
Robbers seize it, rich increase it;
Gamblers lose it . . . I could use it;
I'm a coin collector!

Golden Cannon

There is one golden cannon in the world, that of Istanbul in Turkey. It was made for Sultan Coliman, the Magnificent, from 660 pounds of gold coins, looted from conquered nations.

Librarian's Report

Dorothy E. Beaulieu, CSNA 970

Have you noticed lately what a really great library we have? If you have taken the time to add to your catalogue every book that has been listed in this column you can easily see just how rapidly it has grown.

In the beginning was the "word," and in our case, the word began with donations from the handful of dedicated numismatists who founded this organization. Determined to build a worthy educational program, they laid the cornerstone with articles, pamphlets, auction catalogues and a number of numismatic classics which are not readily obtained today.

Three major acquisitions, those of the late Howard F. Bowker, Lesley G. Lodge and the East Bay Coin Club propelled us into a higher echelon. Subsequent purchases, including the Castenholz inventory, gifts from various publishing companies and private individuals added yet more depth.

Now, we add the name of Ralph A. Mitchell, President Emeritus of CSNA, to our roster of patron saints. "Curly", as he is widely and affectionately known, has presented us with a magnificent collection of books, many of which are seldom seen in the market place. They have brought a new dimension to our holdings and we are immensely grateful for this opportunity to place them on our shelves. Since it will take some time to prepare them for inclusion into the library, the list will be published in future issues of Calcoin News.

We wish to also thank Vincent Beretta, Charles Colver, the Society for International Numismatics and Mr. and Mrs. William O. Wisslead for their recent contributions.

Chuckles

The traffic judge, having fined a speeder $25, suggested that he get a receipt from the clerk.

"What do you expect me to do with it?" snapped the disgruntled speeder.

"Save it," countered His Honor. "When you get three of them, you get a bicycle."

The horse would have a good laugh today if he could see all the motorists adjusting their shoulder harnesses.

When in charge, ponder . . .

When in trouble, delegate . . .

When in doubt, mumble!
